

EHT's Film Picks

EHT is happy to share our list of highly recommended films that delve into the issue of 5G, cell phone radiation, and environmental health.

EHT has divided the films into two categories: one on wireless radiation and the other on the broader issue of environmental health and toxins.

Click for Films on Wireless

Click for Films on Environmental Health

Below are some teasers on films regarding industry impacts and environmental pollution:

Stink!

Award-winning documentary on fragrance and toxic chemicals from filmmaker John J. Whelan. Delve into the shocking reality of dangerous chemicals in American products.

Dark Waters

Starring the talented Mark Ruffalo and with mass critical acclaim, Dark Waters tells the true story of a lawyer who went up against a notorious chemical manufacturing corporation and won.

Toxic Hot Seat

An HBO Original Documentary, Toxic Hot Seat explores the corrupt influences behind the toxic flame retardants that lurk within our furniture.

MisLEAD: America's Secret Epidemic

A documentary feature film that exposes the hidden crisis of childhood lead poisoning in America today.

The True Cost

The True Cost takes a deep dive into the origins behind the clothes we wear, from the inhumane treatment of those who make them to the impact of the fashion industry on our environment.

Complicit

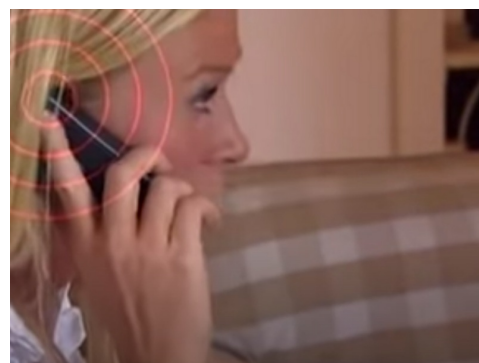

The journey of Yi Yeting, a benzene-poisoned victim-turned-activist fighting work-induced leukemia, who takes on the global electronics industry.

Films on Cell Phones, Wireless and Health

Thank You For Calling

This film looks at serious

A Radiant Day

Why do we trust radiation safety evidence of possible health risks relating to cell phones and reveals why the research has barely reached public perception.

Burt Wolf's "Short Guide to Cell Phone Safety"

Perfect to share with people new to the issue. Broadcasted on PBS, Wolf aired two excellent episodes on cell phones and wireless radiation.

exposure limits influenced by the telecom industry? Why do we trust that electromagnetic radiation can't hurt us?

Microwave Science and Lies

A film on how the cellular telephone industry and its many allies successfully endeavored to suppress public awareness of the growing body of research that finds biological effects.

Click for Films on Wireless

Click for Films on Environmental Health

