

Investigate Europe Releases a New Report on 5G

EVERYONE NEEDS TO SEE THIS!

"The fairminded journalists at Investigate Europe are taking the time to see past the telecom industry hype and discover findings from responsible scientific organizations around the world about the impact of cell phone radiation," said Dr. Devra Davis, president of Environmental Health Trust.

"When journalists carelessly take the telecom industry at its word, they end up contributing to misinformation, trampling science and endangering public health and the environment."

Investigate Europe has just issued its third investigation on 5G and Telecom Influence. Please forward this news widely across the world!

Investigate Europe: "Real 5G Issues Overshadowed by Covid-19 Conspiracy Theories"

— "Unsubstantiated claims that connect the new mobile technology to the spread of the Coronavirus pandemic have led people to destroy 5G masts in several countries. Such actions overshadow concerns about health effects of the technology that are real and legitimate."

— "The Oceania Radiofrequency Scientific Advisory Organization, an Australian entity, examined 2,266 studies and found 'significant biological effects or health effects' in 68% of them."

— "Another, the Bioinitiative Group, referred to up to 1,800 studies when it concluded that many of these effects are likely to cause health damage if people are exposed to radiation for a long time. This is because radiation interferes with the body's normal processes, preventing them from repairing damaged DNA and creating an imbalance in the immune system, these scientists say."
