FORM 20-F (Annual and Transition Report (foreign private issuer)) Filed 06/10/14 for the Period Ending 03/31/14

"Principal Risks Factors and Uncertainties # 7: Our business may be impacted by actual or perceived health risks associated with the transmission of radio waves from mobile telephones, transmitters and associated equipment.

Risk: Concerns have been expressed that electromagnetic signals emitted by mobile telephone handsets and base stations may pose health risks. Authorities including the World Health Organization ('WHO') agree there is no evidence that convinces experts that exposure to radio frequency fields from mobile devices and base stations operated within guideline limits has any adverse health effects.

A change to this view could result in a range of impacts from a change to national legislation, to a major reduction in mobile phone usage or to major litigation."

"Unfavorable litigation or governmental investigation results could require us to pay significant amounts...

As we deploy newer technologies, especially in the wireless area, we also face current and potential litigation relating to alleged adverse health effects on customers or employees who use such technologies including, for example, wireless handsets.

We may incur significant expenses defending such suits or government charges and may be required to pay amounts or otherwise change our operations in ways that could materially adversely affect our operations or financial results."

The WHO provides the following information on how to reduce mobile phone exposure:

1. Use 'hands-free' devices to keep mobile phones away from the head and body during phone calls.

2. Limit the number and length of calls.

3. Use the phone in areas of good reception, which reduces exposure as the phone will transmit at reduced power."

Man's Brain Tumor "Caused" by Cell Phone Use

- Italy's Supreme Court upheld a lower court ruling that a businessman's brain tumor was caused by cell phone radiation.
- Businessman, Innocenzo Marcolini developed a brain tumor called a neuroma on the left side of his head.
- He had used a cell phone ~6 hours a day for 12 years.
  - The Italian Supreme Court relied heavily on Lennart Hardell's studies characterized as "independent" and "not co-financed by the same companies that produce mobile telephones".

February 11, 2013 Emerging Technologies Pose Significant Risks with Possible Long-Tail Losses

"The risks associated with long term use of cell phones, although much studied over the past 10 years, remains unclear. Dangers to the estimated 250,000 workers per year who come in close contact with cell phone antennas, however, are now more clearly established. Thermal effects of the cellular antennas, which act at close range essentially as open microwave ovens can include eye damage, sterility and cognitive impairments. While workers of cellular companies are well trained on the potential dangers, other workers exposed to the antennas are often unaware of the health risks. The continued exponential growth of cellular towers will significantly increase exposure to these workers and others coming into close contact with high-energy cell phone antenna radiation. "

Our Insight, Your Advantage

AUVA Report (2009)

The Austrian Social Insurance for Occupational Risks AU- VA commissioned the Vienna Medical University to carry out its own research project, focusing on effects of cell phone radiation on the brain, immune system, and proteins. They issued a Report "Nonthermal Effects of Electromagnetic Radiation in the Cell Phone Frequency Range " and detailed the research showing evidence of nonthermal effects.

The AUVA Report detailed evidence showing alterations to: Central Nervous System (brain) Immune System and Protein Syntheses

"The radiation-induced effects observed, however, were not always dosage-dependent as would be expected from thermal effects. Some cells showed an even stronger response when the 5-minute expo- sure was followed by a 10-minute break (intermittent exposure). This would also support a nonthermal effect mechanism. The project results, therefore, serve as a further confirmation of the existence of so-called nonthermal effects." (p. 169)

"Any person, of course, can learn important lessons from these results. The findings of the study show that a cell phone user can minimize the potential risks through a prudent use of this technology." (p.169)

"One of the observations showed that, among the different cells, those respond particularly strongly, which are metabolically active. This cell property is especially pronounced in growing tissues, that is, in children and youth. Consequently, these population groups would be more susceptible than average to the described effects." (p.138)

SUPERIOR COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

"If there is even a reasonable possibility that cell phone radiation is carcinogenic, the time for action in the public health and regulatory sectors is upon us. Even though the financial and social cost of restricting such devices would be significant, those costs pale in comparison to the cost in human lives from doing nothing, only to discover thirty or forty years from now that the early signs were pointing in the right direction..."

"If the probability of carcinogenicity is low, but the magnitude of the potential harm is high, good public policy dictates that the risk should not be ignored."
